Business and Management
Taking control of your career, moving into management, how to win a job interview, mastering the marketing industry or even running your own business? Here you’ll find the courses to suit whatever questions you want answered about the big world of business.

IT for novices
Making sense of the maze of applications and gaining maximum value is a challenge for us all. Our courses provide training and development for the novice to advanced users, who would like to develop their skills and master the desktop.

Social Arts Series
Join us in our newest program at CCE launching in August 2009. The Social Arts Series includes a suite of courses covering visual and performing arts and literature. Designed for beginners with maximum engagement in an informal social setting, participants learn new skills in producing or understanding different art forms. The series launches with the courses below but stay tuned for the addition of further courses.

- Diva – For those tired of singing in the shower, expand your audience by learning to sing in a choir
- Book light – Discover the hidden wonders of literature by joining our book club.
- Bureau – Choose a nom de plume and learn the art of creative writing.
- Studio – Release your inner artist in this art making workshop where you will develop a greater understanding and appreciation for art.
- Backstage – Learn more about theatre with pre-performance discussions with playwrights, actors and directors.
